

European General Data Protection Regulation

The EU is overhauling its data protection laws to create better harmonisation with a single law, the EU General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR). The GDPR will apply from 25 May 2018.

To help you prepare for the advent of the Data Protection Regulation, this microsite outlines the material changes being brought in and offers practical guidance on issues raised by the Regulation as well as tools to help you prepare for the implementation of the new rules.

Kontakt

Alexander Brown

This document (and any information accessed through links in this document) is provided for information purposes only and does not constitute legal advice. Professional legal advice should be obtained before taking or refraining from any action as a result of the contents of this document.