

Simmons & Simmons Translator - the smart way to handle Article 28 declarations

Find out more about Article 28 declarations and how we can help you using our unique software service, Simmons & Simmons Translator.

Submitted	26 February 2016
Applicable Law	European Union
Topic	Intellectual Property
Contact	Darren Meale, Adrian Smith

What do I need to know?

You have until 24 September 2016 to file “Article 28” declarations at the Office for Harmonization in the Internal Market (OHIM). Otherwise certain of your pre-June 2012 Community Trade Marks (CTM) will be deemed to protect only the goods and services covered by the “literal meaning” of the relevant Nice class headings.

With the help of our unique Simmons & Simmons Translator software tool can, we can do this for you automatically, saving you considerable time and money, using proprietary technology to review your portfolio, ascertain which CTMs are eligible, and prepare appropriate declarations for filing at OHIM.

Where can I find out more?

You can read our flyer on Simmons & Simmons Translator here.

Where can I read more about Article 28 declarations?

We’ve written the following articles on elexica to explain both the background and the practical side of Article 28 declarations:

Get ready to boost your EU trade mark portfolio - you will only have one chance

Boost your EU trade mark portfolio with the help of Simmons & Simmons Translator, our unique software-backed solution

You can also read blog posts on the IPKat by our Managing Associate Darren Meale:

Are you ready to boost your EU trademark portfolio? You will only have one chance

This document (and any information accessed through links in this document) is provided for information purposes only and does not constitute legal advice. Professional legal advice should be obtained before taking or refraining from any action as a result of the contents of this document.

© Simmons & Simmons LLP 2019. All rights reserved. Registered in England & Wales Registered Number OC352713

elastica Limited, CityPoint, One Ropemaker Street, London EC2Y 9SS