

Brexit

Brexit

The two year period in which the UK and the EU will negotiate the UK's terms of withdrawal from the EU remains unchanged and moves on relentlessly.

If no agreement on the arrangements for the UK's withdrawal is reached, Brexit will occur on 29 March 2019 unless all Member States unanimously agree otherwise. There may be a transition period from 30 March 2019 to 31 December 2020.

Here you will find all the latest information and guidance to navigate you through the legal implications of Brexit for the next few years.

Featured links

---

Recent Developments

---

How to provide financial services in key European jurisdictions

---

Breaking down Brexit: a blog

---

Disputes Aviator

---

Timeline

European Council concluded that sufficient progress has not yet been achieved in Brexit negotiations on the three priority issues.

European Parliament adopts resolution on withdrawal agreement
European Parliament adopts resolution on its key principles and conditions for approval of the UK's withdrawal agreement.

The UK's exit from the European Union does, however, raise crucial issues as to the potential legal consequences and impact on business activities in the UK.

---

Contact

Charles Bankes, Mark Curtis, Jo Weston

---

This document (and any information accessed through links in this document) is provided for information purposes only and does not constitute legal advice. Professional legal advice should be obtained before taking or refraining from any action as a result of the contents of this document.